Council, Audience Thrash Out Civic Center Start

The Carmel City Council opened bids last night for construction of a police station and corporation yard as Phase I of the Carmel Civic Center at Junipero and Fourth and allowed audience participation on the use and development of the Civic Center and Sunset properties. The latter action was approved, on recommendation from a report by Mayor Herbert Blanks and Councilman Eben Whittlesey, in place of further public hearing requested by Wallace E. Doolittle on behalf of the Klenke Committee.

Joseph B. Fratessa submitted low bids for Plan A, $315,000, and Plan B, $346,000. Plan A provides for a wooden roof over the facility, while Plan B includes a concrete roof-deck. Other bids received were from Comstock Associates, $343,200 and $374,400; Daniels and House Construction Co., $361,872 and $411,690; Geyer Construction, Inc., $345,500 and $389,700. These figures do not include bids given for three additive alternates which plan for additional interior casework, a spray-paint facility, and a retaining wall to make possible a larger area of level ground for the corporation yard.

Acceptance or rejection of one of the bids will be considered by the council at an adjourned meeting Tuesday. Councilmen will also study financing of the project and the use of alternate bids.

In opposing acceptance of the findings and recommendations of the Blanks-Whittlesey report, Councilman Gunnar Norberg stated, referring to the Carmel General Plan, "Nothing was said about a Civic Center (on Junipero and Fourth) in the original report." He contended that reference to a Civic Center was "intentionally deleted" when the general plan was approved. Mayor Blanks (Continued on Page Four)

More Kudos For Mrs. Josselyn

Mrs. Talbert (Florence) Josselyn received more praise last night at the Carmel City Council meeting where Mayor Herbert B. Blanks presented her with Card No. 1 making her an honorary planning commissioner for life.

Mrs. Josselyn resigned last month after serving 19 years with the Carmel Planning Commission and prior to that, six years on the library board. In presenting the card Mayor Blanks said, "It is not very often that I will have a chance to thank someone for 25 years of devoted and dedicated service."

Accepting a sheaf of yellow roses, Mrs. Josselyn replied, "It has been a privilege and a pleasure to serve." She also voiced her thanks to City Clerk Hugh Bayless and City Planner Floyd Adams who, she said, "kept us straight when we might have wandered."

Allman Cook New Owner

The name "Cook" will remain on the masthead next month, although the first name will be "Allman" instead of "Clifford."

On April 4, Cliff Cook, owner-publisher of The Carmel Pine Cone for over 22 years and closely associated with it for another five, will resume the golf game he gave up in 1964 to come out of premature retirement to salvage the paper when a buyer-group defaulted.

The new owner-publisher, a Carmel business man for the last nine years, has been in the investment business, owned several motels and a gift shop in the area. He is a member of Carmel Rotary Club, Monterey Peninsula Country Club, the Beach Club, Stillwater Yacht Club, the World Affairs Club of the Monterey Peninsula and the Monterey History and Art Association. He belongs also to the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Carmel and is on the board of directors of the Carmel Youth Center.

Mr. Cook and his wife, Louise, are former residents of Detroit, Michigan. They have one son, Michael, a Carmel High School graduate who will receive his bachelor's degree in architecture from the University of California at Berkeley this June.

Cliff Cook bought The Pine Cone in 1941 and, with his late wife Wilma as editor, published it until the fall of 1961, when Mrs. Cook died. With his staff, including his present wife Mary, he continued to print The Pine Cone until July, 1962, when Larry Rose, George Walker et al purchased the publication. Upon default of payment, Cliff once more stepped back to supervise the paper and the print shop.

Before ownership of the weekly, Cliff owned the Carmel Pine Cone Press which printed The Pine Cone at that time, for two years. Prior to that, he was their printer, from 1936 to 1939.

Allman Cook, new publisher, says he "does not have any plans to change the operation of The Carmel Pine Cone" at the present time.

Somebody's getting an award and it's not for those sharp outfits they all sport. If that's a clue, it may help the first person to phone or write The Pine Cone correctly identifying the occasion, those in the photograph and the approximate date. The first to do so will win a free one-year subscription (getting harder, isn't it?).

Humble Opposition Is Fortified By Formation Of County-Wide Group

Professor W. Howard Church, chairman pro-tem of the Six Cities Fund organization, revealed Tuesday the establishment of a unified, county-wide association to combat air, land and water pollution in Monterey County.

Membership of the new, seven-man committee will be chiefly from industries whose production will be vitally affected by mass pollution.

Monterey Peninsula representatives will be Professor Church, U.S. Naval Postgraduate School; William Sefton, vice chairman, Visitor and Convention Bureau of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce; and Gus A. Bauman, retired business executive.

Salinas Valley will be represented by David M. Williams, general production manager, Bruce Church Inc.; Arne Thirup, president, Monterey Bay Flower Growers' Association; and Larry A. Hearne, president, L. A. Hearne Warehouse Co., King City. Dr. James A. Mattison Jr., of Salinas, chairman of the public health committee, Monterey County Medical Society, representing the interests of public health and welfare, completes the committee.

Appointed as secretary-manager of the new association is James E. Chubb, president, Special Events Agency of the Monterey Peninsula.

The new association supersedes the Six Cities Fund and assumes all obligations and programs of that organization. Six Cities Fund originated the referendum action against the Humble Oil Co. use permit at Moss Landing.

The goals of the new association are defined in short, medium and long range objectives. Short range: To eliminate any immediate threat

Bair Presents Incentive Plans To Board, Teachers

Three incentive plans to compensate teachers in Carmel Unified School District for extra or outstanding work were presented last evening to the board of education by Medill Bair, superintendent. They will be discussed again at the next regular meeting, March 23, though the board divided on whether or not it would be a "hollow action" to pass them at that time, with the results of the March 29 tax override election not yet in.

Board president Robert Newton emphasized that neither the incentive plans nor an improved salary schedule for the teachers could be implemented without additional funds. He suggested, however, that board adoption of these policies in advance of the election might hold in the system teachers who would otherwise plan to leave.

The incentive plans are of two types. The first two would provide a stipend of $500 a year, either on a one-year basis for a single project such as developing a curriculum in a specific area, or on a year-to-year basis for serving in an additional capacity such as Coordinator of Guidance or Coordinator of Science. The appointments and compensation in these latter positions would be similar to those of athletic coaches.

A plan called "Voluntary Leadership Program" was also proposed, which would award a double step increment in salary to a teacher who could show active leadership in contributing to the improvement of instruction within his department, his school, and the entire CUSD system. As Bair described this program, application for consideration under it would come from the teacher himself.

The purpose of all three plans, Bair explained, is to put the program for upgrading instruction into the hands of the most capable

City Needs Stage Manager For Sunset

A public-spirited citizen with some experience in stage management is needed by the city to serve as stage manager of Sunset Center auditorium. Former manager Mel Taylor has assumed additional responsibilities at the Carmel Post Office and is no longer able to continue his service for the events at Sunset.

The position entails setting up the stage for the Monterey County Symphony, Carmel Music Society, Bach Festival and other programs under city management. Applicants must be available at all hours and days and will be paid according to the number and length of programs involved. An allowance for the hiring of extra hands to move heavy or unwieldy objects is provided, however.

While the job cannot provide a living wage, the city hopes that some interested, experienced person will apply to City Clerk Hugh Bayless for the privilege of serving the community.

Regardless of how you feel personally about Moral Re-Armament, did you ever see anything in your life as adulatory as the reception their show got Friday at Sunset? The whole audience on its feet for at least 20 minutes, clapping in time to the music, swinging, singing, yelling for more, more, more! Sophisticated Carmel at a revival meeting and loving every minute of it!

At Community Chest board meeting last week, members were congratulating themselves on the surplus netted by their 1965 campaign. "Well, no wonder," laughed USO manager Frank Adams. "If all your agencies' allotment checks were like ours, you should've had a lot more than that. You granted us $500 and our check read 'Five and no/100th'!"

Slips that pass in the society section of another peninsula newspaper: "Mr. and Mrs. John O. Curran of San Benancio Village have announced the engagement of their daughter."

Wouldn't you have thought that kite flying was about as safe a sport as your kids could indulge in? We always breathe a sigh of relief when ours do it. Gets 'em away from all that bomb making, you know. Well, seems kite flying has its hazards, too, so P.G.&E. has come out with an excellent safety guide in the form of a comic book. Here are the rules.

1. Don't cross streets or highways while flying kites.
2. Don't fly a kite with metal in the frame.
3. Don't use tinsel string, wire or any twine with metal in it.
4. Don't fly a kite near TV or radio aerials.
5. Don't fly a kite near electric power lines.
6. Don't pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a snagged kite.
7. Don't touch fallen electric wires.
8. Don't fly a kite in the rain.

Little known facts about sunny California—Our total rainfall this year has been 18.48. Last week a Carmel Valley school bus got stuck in the snow, and hail showers on Los Laureles grade were so intense that motorists had to pull over and wait. And a certain male member of our family, who shall be nameless, is now sleeping with his ears bound in an old sweater.

But who'd want to live anywhere else? Mrs. Jean McDonald's 10-year-old daughter, Linda, was talking about it during the coldest days to her mother and she said she wished they could move. She didn't say it with a great deal of conviction, though. "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence, darling," said Mrs. McDonald. Linda thought this over as she contemplated their neighbor's spectacular garden and lawn. "Yes," she conceded finally, "but I guess it's just because they fertilize and water and mow it all the time."

This being Red Cross month, I'm reminded of a crazy bohemian friend of ours named Lincoln Randall. One time he was house-sitting the Hermanns' gorgeous Pebble Beach house while they were abroad. The Red Cross volunteer knocked at the impressive door fully expecting, I'm sure, to receive a whopping big contribution, and what happens? Lincoln, bearded, half naked and half asleep, flings open the door and gasps, "Red Cross? Oh, thank heaven you've come!"

One Act Plays For White Oaks Workshop

White Oaks Theatre's "Workshop Series #2," scheduled for March 13 and 27 at 7:30 p.m., will further the organization's plan to present at no admission cost an evening of entertainment in drama and musical theatre.

Members of the staff, and company are allowed to tackle new areas of theatre they might not encounter otherwise. Experimentation with new roles, unusual plays, original scripts, various elements of technical design—all are part of the new White Oaks undertaking.

"We were very happy with the public's response to 'Series #1' last month," said Shirley Eoff, White Oaks director, executive staff member, and manager of the children's theatre program. "Edward Albee's 'The Sandbox' and Noel Coward's 'Fumed Oak' are dramatically and comically many league apart, but their combination on the program, we feel, both held and tickled three of the most responsive audiences we've had this winter."

For this new series, Miss Eoff is directing one of the three one-act plays on the program, "The Stronger," by August Strindberg, which will feature Karen Kondan and Karin Gjording. The other two offerings, both by Tennessee Williams, are "This Property is Condemned," with Ron Mitchell directing White Oaks newcomers Sandra Lundwall and Mike Riordan, and "The Lady of Larkspur Lotion," directed by Martin Herzner, with Mary Pattie, Corliss Nickerson, and Dave Wynne.

AFA SPONSORS YOUTH ART CLASS

Art appreciation for teen-agers is the next educational project to be sponsored by the Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts. To be called "Understanding Modern Art," the classes will be given by Mrs. C. Lawrence Washburn on Thursday afternoons from 4-5 p.m. starting today in the Sunset Center cafeteria. The discussions, illustrated by color slides, will have as their purpose the increasing of enjoyment through increasing of understanding.

Mrs. Washburn is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley and majored in art and history. She is presently teaching art at Santa Catalina School for Girls.

The charge for 10 sessions, open to high school juniors and seniors, is $10. Phone the AFA gallery for further information and to register for these classes.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEMONSTRATION AT MIDDLE SCHOOL

The parent-faculty meeting at Carmel Middle School will start at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, since students will participate in a demonstration sponsored by the foreign language department.

Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman will be chairman for the evening and will introduce other faculty members in her department. Parents will visit the language lab and will see a student demonstration on the technique of teaching foreign languages.

The meeting will be held in the Stuart Mitchell library and Dr. Robert Newton will be present to explain the override tax and to answer any questions.

Business Association To Meet March 17

Carmel City Councilman Eben Whittlesey will speak on "Basic Information About the Override Tax" in his address to the Carmel Business Association at its quarterly meeting to be held at La Playa Hotel March 17.

The association has announced that its traditional candidates' night for those seeking election to the Carmel City Council will be held April 7.

Rejto-Baller Concert Rare Treat

BY JACK BENSON

The phrase "one of the beautiful things in life" contains some precarious sentiment, certainly. Nevertheless, this feeling endured the other evening as we listened to cellist Gabor Rejto and pianist Adolph Baller perform at Monterey Peninsula College. The embodiment of these gentlemen and their art, is truly, "one of the beautiful things in life."

Now, one may ask: "But, how about the music? Isn't this where the beauty really lies?" And our answer must be equivocal, for without the composer it would never be, and without the player it would also never be. So, where does that leave us? It leaves us in a moment of time known as "now." A moment which has little to do with musical notes on paper, but everything to do with the sound of beauty. And out of this moment emerges a twofold act of creation wherein composer and player are as one.

Academic or mystical as all this may sound, it is precisely what happened at the Rejto-Baller recital last weekend. The careers of these musicians are renowned here and abroad. However, there is one factor, all too rare among musicians, which we feel contributes immeasurably to their superlative collaboration, and that is the length of time they have been together. We first heard from them well over a decade ago, when, as the Alma Trio with violinist Roman Totenberg, they made several excellent recordings and concertized widely. Mr. Rejto and Mr. Baller have remained together through the years and the resultant enlivening and enhancement of all they play is continually inspiring.

The concert at MPC began with a clean, swinging performance of Bach's "Sonata in D Major." The next piece programmed, Brahms' "Sonata in E Minor," had been performed here recently, so it seems, and a sonata by Zoltan Kodaly was substituted. This was regrettable, and we felt a little cheated. But, no matter. What was sacrificed in Baller's German Brahms was gained in Rejto's Hungarian Kodaly.

In Debussy's single sonata for cello and piano the tonal coloring and dynamic techniques were exquisitely accomplished. The second movement could have used a little more sizing, perhaps. Thunder, fire, explosive thrusts, plasticity of line, singing logic; all could be applied to describe how Gabor Rejto and Adolph Baller performed the final work on the program, Beethoven's "Sonata in A Major." They even added a few tricks to the rhythmic slight-of-hand in Beethoven's score, and their breakneck "finale" drew an ovation from the filled college music hall.

The only sad note in this worthy recital was the presence of so few students.

The golden head of Tutankhamun, whose tomb was discovered only in the 1920's, symbolizes Egypt to many people. In "Egypt, Gift of the Nile," Ralph J. Franklin brings alive the land of the Pharaohs with his feature-length color film which he will narrate at Sunset Center auditorium March 18. For this showing, the sponsoring Explorers Club of San Francisco will use specially installed equipment on a new 30-foot wide screen and Lansing stereophonic sound speakers.

Six of the "Seven Wonders of the Ancient World" have long vanished, the temples of Nubia have now also disappeared, but one will see them as they were and in the original location in some of the most historical footage ever filmed.

Of interest to the armchair traveler will be views of the great pyramids of Cheops, Luxor's temple of Karnak, Saint Catherine's Monastery, old and new Cairo, the Sinai wilderness and forbidden tombs and temples photographed for the first time for American audiences.

The film is one of the current Explorerama-Carmel series, proceeds of which are used for scholarships for young science students. Tickets, at $1.75, are available at Central Box Office (624-6739) or Abinante Music Store in Monterey.

CUSD To Get $48,809 In Federal Funds

Carmel Unified School District has been notified that funds amounting to $48,809, out of a tentative $65,079, have been certified for payment to the district for the remainder of the school year under Public Law 874 which grants relief to "federally impacted" school areas. If Congress approves President Johnson's proposed 50 percent reduction in PL 874 funds Carmel will lose another $32,000 in support next year. Other Peninsula districts stand to lose larger amounts, though probably not much more in percentage of funds if the proposed reduction goes into effect.

Among those who have already voiced opposition to any reduction in support under PL 874 are Congressman Burt L. Talcott, the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and the California School Boards Association.

Erwin Canham To Speak Sunday In San Francisco

One of America's most distinguished journalists, Erwin D. Canham, will speak in the California Masonic Memorial Temple in San Francisco on Sunday. His talk, on "The Spiritual Revolution," will begin at 3:00 p.m. and is open to the public. Admission is free.

Mr. Canham is editor in chief of the Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper published in Boston, Massachusetts.

He is a Rhodes Scholar who has served as president of both the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the United States Chamber of Commerce, also as an alternate American delegate to the United Nations General Assembly. His current positions include service with a number of government commissions, public institutions and corporations.

He is probably best known, however, for his penetrating analysis of current events that began when he was a young Monitor correspondent at the League of Nations and extends today over a broad range of public affairs.

Mr. Canham is now engaged in a public speaking tour that will take him to 40 of the world's major cities, on special assignment by the Christian Science Church.

His address is described as a "searching look at the spiritual concepts and forces that are reshaping the world." He gives special attention to the relation between religion and science.

"What this talk will explore," says Mr. Canham, "is our need to understand the meaning of humanity's achievements in spiritual terms. It would be a tragedy if

Girl Scout Week Was Celebrated Monday By Local Girls

Local girls celebrated Girl Scout Week on Monday with a program at Carmel Middle School. Junior Girl Scouts from Troop 2009 entertained their parents and the girls from Troop 2121, Troop 2080 and Junior Troop 2069. Troop 2009 led the flag ceremony and sang the songs they have learned thus far for the Songster Badge—a sea chanty, "Donkey Riding," a Czechoslovakian dance song, the round "Girl Scouts' Goodbye," and "Hail to the Scouts."

They gave brief descriptions of the work being done toward the completion of several badges. Recognition was given the following people who helped the girls in their badge work: Mrs. Eldon Dardini, drawing and painting; Robert Lynn, art-in-the-round and dabbler; Mrs. Jack Chalkley, art-in-the-round; Mrs. C. E. Welchner, songster; William Sanford, dabbler; and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, gypsy.

Displayed around the room were some of the completed projects, including bag puppets, clay bowls, pictures on plywood, wire sculpture and drawings and paintings in charcoal, poster paints and watercolor. Refreshments were served following this most interesting program.

Leaders for the hostess Troop 2009 are Mrs. Richard Robinson and Mrs. Martin Irwin. Mrs. C. E. Welchner is the music consultant. Mrs. Donald Brown and Mrs. Richard Roberts are the leaders of Troop 2121. Mrs. Fred Termane and Mrs. Donald Rico are in charge of Troop 2080, and Troop 2069 has as its leaders Mrs. Edmond Catey and Mrs. Norman McBride.

Roy Bogas Soloist For First Concert At Canterbury Woods

Pianist Roy Bogas will be presented in concert under the sponsorship of Retirement Residence Inc. on March 18. The concert, one of a series, will be for residents of Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove and the general public.

Mr. Bogas first appeared with an orchestra at the age of fourteen. Since that time he has made numerous concert appearances with such artists as Yehudi Menuhin, Michael Rabin, David Abel, Zara Nelsova, and Joseph Szigeti, with whom he has recorded for Mercury Records.

The concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the John Tenant Memorial Auditorium, Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove and tickets may be obtained there.

our society misinterprets and misuses the tremendous knowledge breakthrough that is taking place. But as we recognize a deeper, spiritual intelligence constantly at work, we gain a new perspective by which we can affirm God in modern terms."

Arrangements for the event were made by the Christian Science churches of northern California as part of their observance of the Centennial of Christian Science this year.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Carmel Foundation will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the parish house of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Following the meeting, tea will be served at the Foundation Town House.

On the same day, an open house will be held at Carmel Foundation's most recently acquired low-rental housing unit, Haseltine Court. The court is named in honor of Miss Orre Haseltine, a devoted member of the board until her death. The 12-studio apartment complex is located on the southeast corner of Fifth and Lincoln.

The open house will be held from 10 a.m. until noon and again from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Coffee will be served and everyone is invited to attend.

MPC Offers German, Italian Films

Two free film showings are scheduled for this month by Monterey Peninsula College. The first, "Aren't We Wonderful?", a satirical German movie will be screened tomorrow. The second, on March 25, will be "Nights of Cabiria," an Italian masterpiece from the creator of "La Strada." Each will be shown twice, at 7 and 9 p.m., followed by an analysis and critique by Rod Holmgren.

Tickets may be picked up at the college administration building switchboard a week prior to performances or may be obtained by mail when requests are accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Glaser, right, genial president of the Monterey County Symphony Association, congratulates Mrs. Leroy (Eileen) Dufur of Carmel Valley, first prize winner in the association's county-wide contest for amateur photographers whose winning prints will be used by the symphony for publicity purposes. Mr. Glaser was host for the Sunday reception at the Beach Club in Pebble Beach for the entrants and judges as well as members of the symphony board and the Salinas and Monterey Peninsula guilds.

In addition to a check for $25 for her interesting double-exposure print, Mrs. Dufur received two honorable mentions for other entries. Ernest Smith of Pacific Grove, a member of the orchestra whose avocation is photography, was awarded $15 for second prize and Juanita Todd of Monterey was presented with a check for $10 as third prize. Honorable mention was made for the entries of E. L. Whitworth of Marina, Rolf Schindler of Salinas, Forest Durland of Pacific Grove and Albertha McConnell of Pebble Beach.

Colonel C. H. Du Val introduced Al Weber, Monterey Peninsula College photography instructor and general supervisor of the contest. Judges were Wynn Bullock of Monterey, Steve Crouch of Carmel and George Seideneck of Carmel Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Firestone, who journeyed from their new home in Akron, Ohio, to attend the wedding of Mr. Firestone's father, Leonard Firestone and Mrs. Stuart Heatly, have stayed on in Pebble Beach to show Mrs. Firestone's sister, Jane Bolton the area.

Miss Bolton makes her home in England and has been teaching in India until recently.

Alliance Goes Tahitian

"A Night in Tahiti" is the theme of a gala costume dinner dance to be held by L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula at Mark Thomas' Outrigger on Cannery Row March 18. Proceeds from the colorful event, whose general chairman is Mrs. John Dowdakin, will go to the scholarship drive of the organization.

A bountiful Polynesian buffet supper will be a highlight of the evening (see Party Plans on page 7). A no-host cocktail hour will precede the dinner which will be served at 7:30 p.m.

At 9 p.m., a panel of judges will select the costume winners from the grand parade. Prizes will be awarded the most handsome, clever or amusing costumes for men, ladies and groups. Guests (the public is invited) are urged to come as Polynesian natives or tourists. Beachcombers, artists "au Gauguin," even missionaries and sea captains, will carry out the theme of "A Night in Tahiti." Among the judges are Leonard Heller, Barbara Burdick and Howard Allen. Mike Marotta's South Seas Ensemble will play for dancing until 1 a.m.

L'Alliance members have been working enthusiastically on decorations, costumes, menu and music to make this a memorable party. Henri Corbat, president of the organization, has donated a generous door prize. The lucky winner will receive a lady's Le Coultre diamond wrist watch or a man's

Sister Visits The Gilberts

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gilbert have been entertaining Mrs. Gilbert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Darby. The Darbys, though familiar with the area, have not visited here for many years and have been enjoying seeing many of their favorite spots, particularly Point Lobos.

While in California, they made a side trip with the Gilberts to visit Yosemite. The Darbys regretfully leave tomorrow for their home in Bridgehampton, Long Island.

Margaritas And Mariachis

Husbands who forsake their wives to enjoy a hunting and fishing trip, take note. Just such a trip was enjoyed recently by Howard Brunn, Hank Fonseca, Dr. Ray True and Harold Saunders who flew to Los Mochis, Mexico.

Their wives, who stayed home, got together and decided they could use some of the atmosphere of old Mexico, too, and the idea for a party was born.

The four couples entertained fifty guests in what might be described as a Mexican-Progressive party. They started at the Fonseca's where margaritas were served in a festive setting with background music by Manuel Campos and his strolling mariachis, then on to My Adobe Hacienda in Seaside where they enjoyed an authentic Mexican dinner.

After dinner the guests progressed to the Saunders' home where they had coffee.

wished to present their views.

"The Junipero site is considered the back door to the town," said Mrs. James B. McGrury, "and a Civic Center would be entirely out of place there. It might be all right for a police station and corporation yard, but not for the other, especially when we have a beautiful site like Sunset."

Bill Jennings, remarking that the general plan predated the acquisition of Sunset, suggested city offices use of Sunset and was supported by Mrs. Barbara Norberg. "The citizens who worked on the plan which replaced the Livingstone Plan," she stated, "felt that if Sunset should become available it was the ideal place for a Civic Center . . . people were not aware of what was going on and should have a chance to see which of the two properties they wish to have developed." Approval of Mrs. McGrury's and Mrs. Norberg's statements was expressed by Miss Anita Wainwright.

Mrs. Ruth Mapstead told the council that she did not remember ever being given facts about fund sources and that she thought Sunset was supposed to be used as a Civic Center. Mayor Blanks explained that purchase of the Sunset property is to be paid for from funds raised by the hostelry tax.

Wallace Doolittle, acting chairman of the Klenke Committee, said "What we are trying to do is get a review . . . we are not trying to stop anything, only to suspend action until we know what we are purchasing. The basic question is the use of Sunset."

A Mrs. Collins, speaking as a resident of an unincorporated area, expressed the opinion that such areas, though needing additional services, will not annex to the city because the residents think the council is spending money unnecessarily. Frank Timmins agreed with Mr. Doolittle and remarked "It is a poor time to spend money we don't have."

Speaking as a citizen of Monterey County and as a member of the Sunset Commission, Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN ret) stated "It is not the intention of any governmental body, any clique, etc., to take any unwarranted action whereby the citizens would be deprived of the Sunset property which belongs to the city . . . there is not enough information available now for the council, Sunset Commission or the public to make a decision on the future of Sunset."

Bob Martin told the audience he had been present any time there had been any discussion on a civic center and was very much in favor of its development. He lauded the police department for continuing to do such outstanding work under its present housing conditions. Expressing approval of the proposed Phase I, Dick Ferguson brought laughter from everyone with his statement, "In Ireland, we have better chicken coops than your police station."

Dr. James Gilman, a Sunset commissioner and currently a candidate for Carmel City Council, read a statement in reply to some of the allegations contained in the Klenke Committee letter. He said, in part, "It is my understanding that this council was elected by the voters to make administrative decisions. You were elected to do it; they weren't—and they won't. Yet they attempt to cast doubt on your proper constitutional prerogatives as the chief legislative and administrative body of the City of Carmel . . . Here you have a deliberate attempt being made to undermine this council, its established constitutional procedure and the public's confidence in it." Dr. Gilman continued, "There are hundreds of Carmelites who are for government by the orderly democratic process that has long been followed by this council; that they are against government by committee, by petition, by smear and innuendo, by malcontents and by discontented minorities."

Councilmen heard further debate and, with Mr. Norberg dissenting, moved to adopt the report of the committee on administration, thus clearing the way for consideration of bids for Phase I of the Civic Center.

Pine Cone Changes Cooks

The new owner of The Carmel Pine Cone, Allman J. Cook, is a modest man, refreshingly devoid of sweeping statements and grandiose plans which have characterized some former short-term publishers of the paper. He has, one feels, substance, responsibility . . . and a belief in the importance of producing a small-town newspaper for an ever-increasing suburban area where people still want to know who's a grandmother this week or whose kid batted best in the Little League.

The staff will all miss Cliff Cook—his wisdom, the affability hidden under a dour cloak and his intuitive yet hard-learned knowledge of his trade. We will miss, too, our cheerful, efficient Mary, Cliff's wife, who is a true catalyst in our everyday relations here.

Please enjoy your well-earned leisure, Cliff (Mary, too). This time, surely, you won't have to interrupt your play on the links nor cut short your travels to salvage The Pine Cone again. J.V.

I Solisti Veneti Presented A Phenomenal Musical Experience

BY JACK BENSON

An imposing number of European ensembles have been brought here in past seasons by the Carmel Music Society. They include the Paris Chamber Orchestra, I Musici, Societa Corelli, I Solisti da Zagreb, Virtuosi di Roma and appearing twice, the Orchestre San Pietro. But we recall none quite so extraordinary as I Solisti Veneti, a string ensemble of 12 young musicians from Venice, which performed Tuesday evening in Sunset auditorium.

The Venetian group is making its North American debut this season. We have no knowledge of how they have been received in this country thus far, but their concert here was a phenomenal experience; phenomenal that is, if one is prepared to accept, as we were, the purposes and aims of the group and its director, Claudio Scimone. As paraphrased from the program notes, I Solisti Veneti endeavors to revitalize and perform the Venetian repertory of the 18th Century in its "true Venetian light."

In his book "Vivaldi: Genius of the Baroque," Marc Pincherle speaks of "a profusion of visitations by ghosts and demons, enormous cataclysms, the magical sleepiness (sommell) in enchanted gardens—all the repertory of large stage effects of which the Venetians never managed to tire." As a Venetian, this was Vivaldi's cultural heritage, and the case point is his Seasons, which comprised the better half of last Tuesday's program.

"Le quattro stagioni" (The Four Seasons) as presented by I Solisti Veneti, was like a series of fresh paintings with the seemingly limitless breadth of nature itself. By this is meant no single painting, but a universal style in musical representation which ranged from the stark purity of a Japanese landscape, to the strong, boisterous depictions of a Breughel, to the soft, pastoral scenery of a Poussin. Such things as tempi and dynamics responded to the capriciousness of man in nature, and not to the metronome or the bar-line. Instead of marking crescendos or retardandos, Vivaldi was more inclined to write into his score such directions as "like a scream" or "always loud and rasping."

Claudio Scimone's conducting showed graphically how this was being accomplished. It was unorthodox, but stunningly effective. He would speed up his beat for a storm or drag out a sound from the cellos as a drunken peasant fell to the floor. He used any means to achieve the end in Vivaldi's score. He was a painter, a choreographer, a mime, but at all times a conductor, without score, and musically sound.

The ensemble reacted like a single, intricate, well-oiled machine, but with the alert, flexible grace that defies the mechanical. After intermission they performed a concertino by Pergolesi with a vigorous final fugue, and concluded with one of Rossini's merry and theatrical string sonatas. An excited audience recalled I Solisti Veneti for three encores.

"SHOW AND TELL" IS ANNUAL CRAFTS GUILD EVENT TOMORROW

"Show & Tell" is the theme of the March meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild to be held tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. at the Carmel Art Association Gallery. This is an annual event at which each member re-establishes his membership by bringing examples of his past year's work and explains his method of creation; thus, all members are kept informed of each other's progress.

The associate members also join in by telling of their interests, often far removed from crafts. Others interested in crafts or in joining the guild are always welcome guests.

Daughter's Family Visited

Mrs. C. A. Mitchell of Carmel has been enjoying a visit from her son-in-law and daughter, Colonel and Mrs. E. M. Serrem and the Serrem's daughter, Pamela.

Colonel Serrem has just assumed duty as chief of supply and maintenance at Fort Lewis, Washington. Prior to his new assignment he was at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, as director of maintenance for 18 months after returning from Korea where he was ordnance officer for the 8th U.S. Army.

A graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, he was the first commanding officer of the 74th Ordnance Battalion which was activated at Fort Lewis in 1943, and made the Omaha Beach landing with the battalion. During the next three years he participated in four major campaigns. Decorations include the Bronze Star and the Army Commendation Medals and the Croix de Guerre with palm.

Before leaving here to fly to Fort Lewis Sunday, Mrs. Mitchell's daughter also spent 10 days in Mexico and visited with friends in San Francisco.

Martins Welcome Son

William John is the name chosen for the new arrival at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gerard Martin of Pebble Beach. Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merriam of Chicago, are here to see their new grandson and his two brothers Joseph, four, and Gerard, three.

Carmel Author Writes Play

Among the contributors in the March issue of The Instructor, nationally circulated magazine used by 700,000 elementary school teachers and educators, is Marjorie S. Griffith of Carmel.

Mrs. Griffith has written a St. Patrick's Day play entitled "Where's Timothy?" The play concerns the events which take place when Danny makes a wish for a playmate and the leprechauns turn his dog, Timothy, into a boy.

At Heavenly Valley

Jay R. Miller, who recently completed seven weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego, came home for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, before taking off for Heavenly Valley.

Jay is working at the ski lift in Tahoe and, as a member of the Naval Reserve, will have until September to decide on future plans.

Paula Clampett In Eureka

Mrs. Ruth Clampett has been receiving enthusiastic letters from her daughter, Paula, who is now in Eureka where she has been attending classes sponsored by the Manpower Development Training Act. (The MDTA bill was passed in 1962 and was strongly backed by President Kennedy.)

Paula is currently taking her on-the-job training at Disco, a department store. Though she enjoys living in "snow country" she is always asking her mother to send her post card scenes of the Peninsula, so she hasn't entirely forgotten Carmel.

Mrs. Owings Guest Speaker

Mrs. Nathaniel Owings (Margaret Wentworth) will be the guest speaker when the Faculty Wives' Club of Monterey Peninsula College meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. August Armanasco in Carmel. Mrs. Owings will speak informally of her work with stitchery and will show some of the materials she uses in her compositions.

Dr. Reed In Stuttgart

Dr. J. David Reed, deputy director and chief of operations for the research office at Fort Ord, is now on assignment in Stuttgart, Germany.

He will spend three months exploring the possibilities of training experimental troops under a program sponsored by the Stanford Research Institute. Dr. Reed and his wife, Dorothy, are Carmel residents and Mrs. Reed is the Pine Cone's play reviewer.

Katherine Bucquet To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Bucquet of Carmel Meadows have announced the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Louise, to John Bruce Campbell, son of Mrs. Llewelyn Miller of Carmel Knolls and Mr. Hubert Sidney Campbell of Hillsboro Beach, Florida.

Miss Bucquet, who attended Bishop's School in La Jolla and Carmel High School, is a student at the University of the Pacific. Mr. Campbell is attending Monterey Peninsula College. No date has been set for the wedding.

Winter Visitors

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Soto-Hall of San Francisco will be the guests of the Arthur B. Dunnes at the Cypress Point Club, Pebble Beach, this week end and Mr. and Mrs. John Jewett Garland of Pasadena are currently spending several weeks at their Pebble Beach home.

Mr. and Mrs. Spelman Prentice occupied their Pebble Beach home last week to participate in the week end activities of the Los Altos Hunt.

Violin Students In Recital

A violin recital by the students of Owen Dunsford will be presented Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Carmel Woman's Club. Stephanie Fox, Rosemary Cummings and Gayle Campbell are among the local students who will perform.

Celebrated In Absentia

What do you do when you want to give a birthday party for your children, but your children are far away? Mrs. Eleanor Gann solved the problem in a novel way Saturday when she invited a few close friends of her daughter, Polly, and her son, Steven, to her Pebble Beach home for dinner.

The guests, Francesca Farr, Daphne Craig, Mrs. Lucinda Lloyd Williams, Matt Laky, Sam Farr and Mrs. Gann's mother, Mrs. Edward Michaud (formerly of St. Paul, Minnesota, and now a resident of Pacific Grove), each had a chance to talk privately with Polly and Steve on the telephone.

Steve has won his green beret and is completing his training for the U.S. Army Special Forces at Fort Bragg, South Carolina, where he shares an office with Barry Sadler who wrote "Ballad of the Green Beret."

He had hoped to spend his 25th birthday with his twin sister in Washington, D.C. where Polly and her husband, Sam Frye, are studying Russian in classes sponsored by the State Department. The Frye's anticipate a post in our Embassy in Moscow. Before Polly plans a trip to the Peninsula to visit her mother in May.

Steve especially enjoyed talking with Sam Farr who has just returned from a two year tour of duty with the Peace Corps in Colombia. Sam's sister, Francesca, is off to Mexico later this month to attend the University of the Americas in Mexico City.

Mr. Burkett Recuperating

Reports from the Community Hospital indicate that William A. Burkett of Pebble Beach is making a rapid recovery following major surgery last week.

Shortly before entering the hospital, Mr. Burkett retired as president and chairman of the board of Security National Bank on completion of merger ceremonies with United California Bank.

Pilot From Peninsula

Colonel and Mrs. W. A. Potter of Carmel Meadows have received word that their son, Willis F. Potter, has won his wings as an American Airlines flight officer, qualifying as both co-pilot and flight engineer.

Willis served with the U.S. Navy for ten years, holding the rank of lieutenant at the U.S. Naval Auxiliary landing field at Monterey. He has been assigned to flight duty at Buffalo, New York, and will make his home, with his wife Meredith and three children, in the Buffalo area.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The true nature of "Substance" as defined first by Biblical prophets and later by Christ Jesus will be the Lesson-Sermon subject in all Christian Science services this Sunday. Related passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, will complete the readings.

The story of Peter's healing of the lame man at the gate of the temple called Beautiful (Acts 3) will be presented to illustrate the theme that real substance is spiritual. Peter's response to the man's plea for alms was "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk." The account continues: "And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God."

Passages to be read from Science and Health include these lines: "When we come to have more faith in the truth of being than we have in error, more faith in Spirit than in matter, more faith in living than in dying, more faith in God than in man, then no material suppositions can prevent us from healing the sick and destroying error."

Mrs. John Gratiot, left, and Mrs. Thomas Christian, right, look over the shoulder of Mrs. Dale Junta at one of the books she is examining for the Wellesley College "Bargains-in-Books." The annual benefit will be held March 18 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Community Center room of the Estrada Adobe on Tyler street in Monterey.

The goal of the sale is to increase the assistance fund at Wellesley College to be used for girls from this area, or other parts of California, who qualify for scholarships at the college.

This year's sale boasts a wide assortment of nearly new and used books as well as an outstanding collection of prints. New this year will be a fine selection of colorful plants and decorator flowers.

The group welcomes donations of both books and prints. For information or pickup arrangements, contributors are asked to phone Mrs. Richard Bower (624-4766) or Mrs. Russell Thomson (624-8945).

In addition to Mrs. Gratiot, Mrs. Junta, Mrs. Christian, Mrs. Bower and Mrs. Thomson, who is chairman, local Wellesley alumnae working on the benefit include Mrs. John H. Cubbon, Mrs. Austin Frey, Mrs. Robert W. Hayler, Mrs. A. H. Marshall, Mrs. Alexander Merivale, Mrs. Harry W. Ninde, Mrs. Horace Poynter. Also, Mrs. W. E. Schenck, Mrs. Dar Delos Stofor, Mrs. Walter S. Tower, Dr. Margaret Barnes, Margaret Nason and Bertha Zerega.

April Publication Of Electronics Text By Owen Patrick

"Creative Electronics Fabrication," a junior college textbook by Owen G. Patrick of Carmel Valley, will be published during the first week of April, according to Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc.

The book, designed for use in two-year technical programs, includes such features as basic photo-fabrication, unusual techniques of metal forming and surface treatment of metals.

Patrick, a member of the Monterey Peninsula College faculty since 1959, and chairman of the electronics department during 1962-64, was for many years associated with the electronics industry.

A frequent contributor of articles to Radio-Electronics, he also works with his wife, Mona Patrick, in writing and illustrating articles for other national and local publications. All of the drawings and photographs in "Creative Electronics Fabrication" are his work.

Farr Urges Improved Conservation Education, Asks For Suggestions

Senator Fred S. Farr of Carmel, chairman of the State Senate Fact Finding Committee on Natural Resources, has asked the teachers of the Central Coast area to forward to the committee any ideas they might have to improve conservation education. Senator Farr said, "If we are to have a meaningful conservation program in view of the population explosion in California, we must instill good conservation practices and appreciation for the natural resources of our State in the minds of our young people."

He pointed out that California's population is increasing much faster than that of the rest of the nation, which imposes a threat to our rivers, parks, forest and natural scenery.

MPC Sponsors Course On Criminal Law

A 24-hour institute on criminal law will be sponsored by Monterey Peninsula College March 24 through May 12 on Thursdays from 7-10 p.m. at the United States Naval Air Facility, Monterey.

Covering the laws of arrest, search and seizure, the institute will be open only to persons of police officer status. One unit of college credit will be granted on successful completion.

Instructors will be Richard Snibbe of the MPC faculty; Captain Robert Schuler, Judge Russell Zaches; also Ralph Drummond, Joseph Panetta and Bertram Young of the district attorney's office. Registration will be taken at the first meeting. No charge will be made.

Warren Spindler and Richard Snibbe of the Monterey Peninsula College police science department will attend a meeting of the California Industrial Education Association in Bakersfield this weekend.

They will represent MPC in discussions of standardization in transferring police academy credit to college units and the projected police science course transition from the semester to the quarter system in state and junior colleges.

MPC Players In Lorca Drama

"The House of Bernarda Alba," Lorca's moving drama about women in the villages of Spain, will be staged by the Monterey Peninsula College Players on March 18 and 19 and from March 23-26 in the MPC Little Theater on campus.

The all-female student cast will feature Layne Littlepage in the title role as the autocratic mother of five daughters. Well-known to audiences at the Studio Theatre, Miss Littlepage has also been seen in leading roles in the MPC productions of "The Playboy of the Western World" and "Good Woman of Setzuan."

Susan Clifford of Carmel, who portrays Bernarda's youngest daughter, Adela, appeared in the college productions of "Playboy of the Western World" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Luann Brown, a veteran of MPC's "Best Foot Forward," appears as Magdalena, another daughter.

Other members of the cast are Lee Brady, as Angustias the oldest daughter, whose forthcoming marriage precipitates the fall of the family; Martha Traugott, as Amelia; Sandy Clark, as Martirio; Judy Hammer as a slightly mad 80-year-old grandmother who is kept locked up by the family; Lynnea Larson of Carmel, as a longtime servant of the family; Betty Waldrup, as a maid; and Colista Leone, as Prudencia, a friend of the family.

Drama instructor Morgan Stock, who has coached the cast through weeks of rehearsal, admits that "having all girls in a play poses certain problems." He is grateful, he says, to have a male student, Merle Smith of Carmel, as a stage manager.

"The House," last of a series of "rural tragedies," is the third Lorca play to be produced on the local campus.

After completing "The House," in 1936, the year the Spanish Civil War broke out, Lorca, though he tended to be apolitical, was seized by a group of Fascist terrorists and, along with other Republican

The senator went on to say that if we can inspire our young people to take an interest in their block, their city, their entire environment, then we can be assured that these people throughout their lives will make a valuable contribution to the proper conservation, protection and development of a more orderly California.

He urged that teachers and others having suggestions that might be helpful to the Senate Natural Resources Committee and the Senate Education Committee direct their suggestions to him, Room 2048, State Capitol, Sacramento. At the hearing to be held in the capitol on March 16 by the two committees jointly, conservationists and conservation educators from throughout the state will meet to present their views as to how a more effective program can be established and implemented in the State Department of Education.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

Can you picture an ideal place today which is still unspoiled paradise? This is true of Tahiti where coconut plantations, limpid lagoons, verdant valleys and exuberant streams reach down to rolling beaches.

Someday we are really going to this romantic spot and fish Tahitian style. For the moment we'll wander over posthaste to Mark Thomas' Outrigger on Cannery Row. For that's where "A Night in Tahiti" will be feted on March 18. Tiki torches will blaze dramatically as you approach the fern grotto with its dripping waterfall. Offshore is the graceful four-masted schooner Te Vega whose home port is now Monterey. How easy to imagine sailing forth to the South Seas on this adventurous ship, as she knows Tahiti well and starred in the film "South Pacific."

With all this tempting Tahitian local color we'll climb, instead, aboard the Outrigger in our parous and enjoy the marvelous Polynesian buffet which Gordon Reed has had prepared for us. In case you would like to duplicate this exotic party at home, we are happy to give you the authentic recipes which amiable Mr. Reed, manager of the Outrigger, acquired from their chef par excellence.

This gala fete mentioned elsewhere in this edition, is sponsored by the Alliance Francaise.

PLANTER'S PUNCH (Serves 12)

Cracked ice; 12 dashes aromatic bitters; juice of 6 limes; 12 tps. sugar; 18 ounces light rum (2½ cups); 12 half orange slices; 12 maraschino cherries.

Fill 12 tall highball glasses with finely cracked ice. Add a dash of bitters to each glass. Add lime juice, sugar and rum. Shake or stir with swizzle stick until cold. Garnish each glass with an orange slice and a cherry. Serve with straws.

MAI TAI (Serves one)

1 dash, each, orange Curacao and orange syrup; 2 jiggers bottled unsweetened lemon juice; 1 jigger, each, corn syrup, light and dark rum; fresh mint; vanda orchid, sugar cane stick.

Into a 14-oz. tube glass add chipped ice and the other ingredients, with the mint and orchid (or other blossom) as decoration and the sugar cane stick for stirring. You can buy corn syrup or make your own with ½ cup sugar and 1 cup water; cool and bottle. These two tropical coolers go well with the following pupus (hors d'oeuvres).

RUMAKI (Makes 20)

10 water chestnuts, halved; 5 chicken livers, quartered; cut 10 slices bacon in half.

Take one piece of water chestnut and one piece of chicken liver and wrap in half a slice of bacon; secure with plastic pick or short bamboo stick.

Marinate rumakis in 1 tbs. white wine; ¼ cup soya sauce; 2 tbs. brown sugar; ½ tsp. grated ginger root. Refrigerate rumakis in marinade 2 hours. Broil over hibachi charcoal or under broiler. Baste and turn until bacon is crisp.

SPRING ROLLS (Serves 12)

16 large mushrooms, fresh or dried; 2 onions, chopped fine; 1 can bamboo shoots; 1 lb. bean sprouts; 2 tbs. ginger, chopped fine; 1 lb. lean ground pork, dredged with 2 tbs. each soy sauce and sherry; 2 tps. salt; 2 tps. cornstarch.

Cut bamboo shoots and mushrooms; saute them, then add 6 tbs. soy sauce. Saute onions and mushrooms with the pork, vegetables and ginger. Spread 3 tbs. of this mixture on a pancake. Fold sides and roll; moisten edges with water to hold them together. Fry rolls in deep fat until light brown. Use pancake mix for the pancakes and follow directions on package. The pancake should be very thin and fried less than a minute, only long enough to set. Cut in half for pupus.

POLYNESIAN STEAK KEW (Serves 12)

5 lbs. sirloin tip beef cut into cubes; marinate meat in 1½ cups soy sauce; ½ cup cooking oil; ½ tsp. black pepper; 1 heaping tbs. sesame seeds; 1 tbs. sugar; 4 stalks green pepper, chopped; 3 cloves garlic, crushed; one 1-inch piece ginger root, crushed; 1 tsp. sesame oil.

When ready to cook, saute meat in more oil and add 1 large can bamboo shoots, 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms, 2 thinly sliced onions and 1 pint oysters, chopped. Add 2 cups brown sauce (home made or canned) and simmer gently with the marinade. Thicken with cornstarch if necessary.

LOBSTER CANTONESE (Serves 12)

12 thawed frozen rock lobster tails (6 oz. size); ½ cup oil; 2 garlic cloves, minced; 1 lb. pork shoulder, ground; 4 tbs. cornstarch; ½ cup soy sauce; 2 tps. sugar; 2 tps. salt; 1 tsp. pepper; 4½ cups boiling water; 4 eggs; 1 cup slivered green onion.

With kitchen shears, cut shell away from lobster meat. Remove in one piece; cut crosswise in 2-inch sections. Heat oil in large skillet with cover. Add garlic and pork; saute, stirring, until pork is no longer pink, about 10 minutes. In small bowl make a smooth mixture of cornstarch and 2/3 cup water. Stir in pork, soy, sugar, salt, pepper, boiling water and cornstarch mixture; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer, stirring until thickened and translucent. Add lobster pieces; cook, covered, over low heat until lobster is tender. Do not overcook. In small bowl, beat eggs slightly with fork. Stir all at once into lobster mixture (eggs will form shreds). Add green onion. Serve at once.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK (Serves 12)

4 lbs. pork shoulder, cut into ½-inch cubes; 2 cucumbers, peeled and sliced; 2 onions, sliced; 4 tomatoes, quartered; 4 green peppers, cut into squares; 1 cup, each, vinegar, sugar and soy sauce; 1 tsp. salt, dash cayenne pepper; shake of Accent; 2 tps. cornstarch, dissolved in 4 tps. water; 2 garlic cloves, crushed; 4 tps. salad oil.

In bowl combine vinegar, sugar, soy, salt, cayenne and Accent. Brown garlic in hot oil lightly. Add pork and saute until brown. Add vegetables and stir. Add sauce, then cover and cook about 5 minutes. Stir in cornstarch paste and cook until sauce thickens slightly. Do not overcook vegetables.

CHICKEN FRIED RICE

Boil white rice until very dry; saute it in peanut oil; add minced parsley and chives with cubed roasted chicken.

SHRIMP TAHITIENNE

Split desired number of jumbo shrimp in shell down the back and devein. Pull meat from shell up to tail. Season with: salt, pepper, melted butter and Accent. Broil over charcoal hibachi or under oven broiler until shell turns pink. Serve with melted butter into which a garlic clove has been pressed.

TROPICAL DELIGHT

This delicious dessert is made with French vanilla ice cream, topped with delicate mandarin oranges sections and slivered coconut. Shall we meet at the Outrigger for "A Night in Tahiti?"

Robert Osborne To Be Ordained To Priesthood In Switzerland

The Reverend Robert R. Osborne, S.M. (Marianist), son of Colonel Robert E. Osborne and the late Mrs. Osborne of Carmel, will be ordained to the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church on March 26 in Fribourg, Switzerland.

Father Osborne was in the first graduating class of Carmel Mission School, and attended Carmel High School and Central Catholic High School in San Antonio, Texas. He received his degree from St. Mary's University in San Antonio in 1954 and entered the Society of Mary after graduation. Father Osborne taught at Don Bosco High School in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and did further studies at Loyola University in Chicago, Marquette University in Milwaukee, Canada, and the Alliance Francaise in Paris, France. For the past four years he has been doing graduate studies in theology at the University of Fribourg, Switzerland.

The ordination ceremonies will be held in the Church of Saint Michel in Fribourg with Bishop Francois Charriere of the diocese of Lausanne, Geneva and Fribourg as ordaining bishop. Colonel Osborne and Father Osborne's sister Mary, a teacher at Carmel River School, will spend several days in Germany before going to Switzerland for the ordination. Afterwards, they will join Father Osborne for a trip to Italy. While in Rome they will be part of a group of eight newly-ordained priests from the Marianist International Seminary in Fribourg and their American guests that has been granted a special audience with Pope Paul VI. Colonel Osborne will return to Carmel via Ireland where he will spend Easter Monday to be present for the 50th anniversary celebration of Irish independence.

A first solemn Mass will be celebrated at the Carmel Mission Basilica when Father Osborne returns to the United States in August.

Sierra Club To Show Outing Equipment

An outing equipment forum, sponsored by the Ventana chapter of the Sierra Club, will be held Sunday from 1-4 p.m. at Brey Hall and the music room of Carmel High School. The forum is free and open to the public.

The biennial event is under the direction of the outing committee chairman of the local club, Samuel Hopkins. Mrs. Donald R. (Maggie) Hays is in charge of this special exhibit.

Various activities and accomplishments of the club will be represented with such booths as a high Sierra trip, showing food and gear to be carried on a typical week in the high country, demonstrated by Ward Allison and Sam Hopkins. The mountaineering section will show a typical ski touring outfit, and equipment by Dr. Bruce Meyer, chairman of the Ventana chapter. Gear suggested for a typical week-end outing in the Los Padres National Forest will be displayed by Joelle Craige and Roy Johnson. Patrick Dormody will illustrate "camping with children." The James Kramer family will exhibit practical home styled equipment and clothing and the Donald Hays family will have for exhibit what is needed for wilderness camping with a burro. Canoe camping will be represented by John Otter.

In addition to these and other booths, such as those displaying

Mrs. Lofton To Present Textbook Recommendations

Mrs. Richard (Nancy) Lofton of Carmel, teacher in Monte Vista School, Monterey, and member of the California Curriculum Committee, will submit this area's recommendations on textbooks to the subject matter committee of the commission March 20. After reports from throughout the state have been compiled and studied, a report will be given to the State Board of Education. In May, the commission and the board will meet to make a final selection for adoption.

Thousands of teachers, professors and lay citizens throughout the state have been evaluating the 460 texts under consideration. In Carmel, Dan Yurkovich, administrative assistant to Superintendent Medill Bair, and William Mallek, principal of Tularcitos School have assisted as chairmen of evaluating committees.

The textbooks, which will be adopted for a four-year period, are to be ready for use at the opening of the 1967-68 school year. According to Mrs. Lofton, some books currently in use will be retained when no new books submitted are superior.

TO DISCUSS MEDICARE AT TOWN HOUSE

"Medicare" will be the topic discussed at the Carmel Foundation Town House tomorrow from 2 to 4 p.m.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be available to answer questions about the new health insurance program for people 65 or over.

maps, books, photographs, and a "light refreshment" booth staffed by Sierra Club junior members, there will be movies and slide shows.

Three movies will run concurrently, one of the high Sierra country, one of the activities and aims of the Sierra Club and a third film on wilderness "clean up parties" conducted by members. A slide show, narrated by Mitch Cotton, will illustrate trips and activities of the local club.

Commercial booths, displaying equipment and light weight foods, will represent local outing equipment stores and manufacturers from the San Francisco Bay area and from as far north as Seattle.

Property Tax Relief Proposed For Low Income, Over 65

A portion of the property taxes paid by persons over 65 living on low incomes would be refunded by the state under a program introduced in the Legislature today by Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, and Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan.

Under the plan, the senior citizen would pay his full property tax to local government. He would then file a claim with the State Franchise Tax Board enclosing a copy of the receipted tax bill to receive refund.

The amount of the refund would depend on the family income of the claimant. Those with an annual income of $1,000 or less would receive a refund of 95 percent of their property taxes.

"Last year we recognized our responsibility to help elderly citizens provide health services for themselves," Mr. Unruh stated. "We also have a role to play in assuring that their homes will not be denied to these same people because of soaring property taxes."

In its investigation of property taxes, the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, which Petris heads, found instances in which persons over 65 are paying 50 percent of their incomes in property taxes.

"This is a glaring defect in the tax structure," Petris observed. "We need to move toward an ability-to-pay concept of tax philosophy."

MPC Scholarships To Six Carmel Students

Six Carmel students at Monterey Peninsula College are among those receiving $50 checks in the annual mid-year awarding of scholarships by the Associated Students. They are Cleveland Sibley, electronics technician major; Holly Garcia, Stanley Lindberg and Randall Harris, general studies; Linda Lachmund and Glenn Kovacevich, social sciences majors.

The recipients first fulfilled a list of qualifications which included membership in ASMP and the requirement that each must have taken a minimum of 12 units of college work during the fall semester at MPC; have a cumulative grade point average of 2.4 or better; and be continuing from the fall to the spring semester.

The scholarships were distributed throughout the college's various departments, with each department rating one scholarship to every 35 majors. Department chairmen made the selections from their "outstanding performance" majors. This was a departure from the former custom of conferring the awards on students with the highest grade point averages.

Firkusny Is Soloist For March 22 Symphony

Rudolph Firkusny, acclaimed as one of the leading pianists of our time, will be soloist with the Monterey County Symphony in a performance of Beethoven's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, No. 5 in E Major, Op. 73" (Emperor) on March 22 at Sunset Center auditorium. The concert climaxes the 1965-66 season which has presented widely varied orchestral compositions with a series of renowned soloists.

Currently touring Mexico, Mr. Firkusny will arrive in Carmel March 20 to be greeted by Symphony Director John Gosling, members of the association and the guild for a festive weekend of hospitality here.

For the first time, the Sunday afternoon dress rehearsal, March 20, will be a closed preview.

Rudolf Firkusny, a native of Czechoslovakia, made his first debut at the age of ten and, by 18, was established as a major soloist throughout Europe. His first appearance in this country was in New York in 1938.

Art News . . .

Continuing at the Carmel Foundation Town House is a class in creative crafts with Mrs. Milton (Lucille) Stitt as instructor. Sponsored by the recreation department of the Carmel Unified School District, the class meets on Mondays from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m.

Mrs. Stitt, a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, has a wide background in craft instruction.

No registration charge is required but there is a nominal fee of $2 per semester for supplies. The Town House is located on Lincoln near Eighth. Further information may be obtained by phoning Mrs. Walker at the Town House (624-1588).

Beginning March 16, the American Federation of Arts will sponsor weekly workshops with a model on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to noon in Sunset Center cafeteria.

This is a workshop in the true sense—no instruction. The poses may be continued for several sessions depending upon the wishes of the group. There are new easels, a large, white, well lit room and locked storage space for equipment and paintings. There is a fee of $2 per session and reservations should be made through AFA headquarters.

A colorslide program, continuing the series on India with commentary by Sophie Harpe, will be presented at Sunset cafeteria at 8 p.m. on March 17. The program is free to AFA members, $1 for non-members.

New acquisitions by the American Federation of Arts include gifts of an oil painting, Seascape, by Howard Bradford, Moonlit Pavilion, an oil by Dorothy Bowman and a portrait of Nicolai Fechin by Lloyd Strathearn. An anonymous donor has given a Gerald Wasserman gouache, Allegorical Fiesta. Betty Harrington has donated two of her watercolors and Irene Alexander, two Xavier Martinez oils and an oil by Francis Comas.

Alex Gonzales of Carmel, an art instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, has been invited to exhibit his work in a series of one-man shows this month and April. The first, running through March 31, is at the San Jose Art Center and features oil paintings, drawings in mixed media and paper collages. The show includes work dating back five years as well as some of Gonzales' more recent "figurative" paintings.

Another exhibit will open Monday and may be seen through April 9 at Gallery de Silva, Montecito Village in Santa Barbara. The third, at the Grove Gallery, 214 17th Street, Pacific Grove, may be viewed April 4 to 30.

The artist, last year's chairman of the Monterey County Fair art committee, has had other one-man shows throughout the state. A 1951 graduate of the San Francisco Art Institute, Mr. Gonzales received his bachelor's degree from the California College of Arts and Crafts and a master's degree at San Francisco State College.

Artist Helen B. Dooley has invited members of the Church of the Wayfarer Guild to her studio-gallery in the Mall on San Carlos street for their March 15 meeting to hear her speak on "How to Look at Paintings."

The California-born artist has been on the staff of the University of the Pacific since 1948 and is on leave of absence from that institution. Having done most of her study and painting in the Western states, Miss Dooley has exhibited and received awards at the DeYoung Museum in San Francisco, Crocker Gallery in Sacramento and the California State Fair.

The 99th annual exhibition of the American Watercolor Society will be held April 7-24 at the National Academy Galleries in New York City. Open to all artists, prizes for this year amount to some $6,000, including the society's Gold Medal of Honor with $600 and

Red Cross Meets Needs Through Disaster Program

During the period between July and December of last year, 202 pints of whole blood were used for local residents in this area. In Carmel, about one-fifth of the total annual budget is allotted to the blood program. A portion of your gift to the Red Cross helps meet the cost of operating the Red Cross Blood Center in San Jose which supplies blood to our hospitals in Monterey County.

The new modern laboratory at the center not only provides whole blood for transfusions, but is capable of providing a more sophisticated service to the community through blood derivatives such as gamma globulin, plasma, and others for special needs, as in a disaster.

As an example of the disaster preparedness plan of the Red Cross, which applies to our local area as well as to every community in the United States, within hours of the destructive tornado which struck Mississippi and Alabama on March 3, the Red Cross disaster program was in operation. The morning after the twister had left scores of dead and injured, a supply of blood was on hand for the injured by 2 a.m. Red Cross shelters were immediately set up, cots and blankets obtained from the U.S. Public Health Service, and an Air Force C-119 flew in to Jackson carrying two Red Cross disaster vans and a number of trained workers. On this plane were supplies of O-negative blood and serum albumin to be used in shock cases. Red Cross nurses were rushed to the disaster area, and recruiting for additional Red Cross nurses was begun in Atlanta.

Locally, Thomas McKinstry is the disaster chairman, and F. Douglas Tellwright is the blood program chairman.

Fine Cast And Direction Make 'Rainmaker' Delight To Audience

"The Rainmaker," now at the Circle Theatre, is a warm slice of the human comedy appealingly presented by a well-chosen cast. N. Richard Nash, writing in simple language about simple people, has built a sympathetic vehicle around the old truism that good things happen to those who have faith in them.

A fast talking spellbinder who calls himself Bill Starbuck offers to bring rain to a tiny water-starved ranching community in a western state — but whether or not he achieves this is secondary to his feat of convincing Lizzie Curry, fast becoming an old maid, that she has the womanly graces needed to win a man. Sam Matar is splendid as the fast-talking con man, bursting with optimism and advice, who admits in the middle of the night that his life is lonely and futile. Harriet Bird makes an outstanding Lizzie as she proves to the audience that the difference between plain and pretty is a matter of a light in the eyes and hope in the heart.

Her father, played by John Hicks, is on the side of those who want to believe, both in the Rainmaker and in her. He is very real as the puzzled parent, full of concern for his child and of bewilderment at what to do about her. Duane Jones is funny and appealing as Lizzie's warmhearted, impulsive brother, Jimmy, who goes around generally with his foot in his mouth. Her other brother, Noah, is realistically acted by Ray Cardina; Noah is a well-meaning hard worker, attached to Lizzie and reluctant to hurt her, but he sees human feelings in terms of account books.

Sheriff Thomas, an unimaginative man who is fond of dogs, and his deputy, File, an unhappy person with a secret disgrace that has soured his ability to trust, round out the cast. Paul Czibran and Peter A. Kuehn give solid performances in these parts.

Consistent writing and skillful casting have combined with remarkable effectiveness in this play, for not a speech seems out of character with the speaker, and the actors fit their roles as comfortably as their skins.

Much of the flow that makes this performance unusually pleasant is due to the ingenious setting by Carol McPhee. Three locations are on stage simultaneously, and the action shifts smoothly from one to another with the effective use of lighting, done by Charles Richmond. The ranch house atmosphere is comfortably convincing, and Director Norman McPhee has done a very skillful job of accommodating the audience on all sides of this performance in the round.

"The Rainmaker" plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 at the Circle Theatre. It is an excellent production for families or student groups.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Dorothy T. Colvin, Children's Librarian

The selection of books for young people can be a very involved and a very uncertain procedure for librarians. With many hundreds of titles coming off the press each year, which will be the best written ones for our young readers? Every reading ability and interest should be satisfied with the best possible literature and information. It would be ideal for the librarian to examine and read each potential addition. But time is the greatest stumbling block in achieving this ideal. The children's librarians of this area convene each month to examine a limited number of consideration titles through the Monterey County Library. Reading of a few fiction titles by each librarian and the oral reviewing of these titles at this same meeting is a recent innovation of the group. Even so, librarians have to depend on other sources for selection and opinions.

There are a number of reviewing agencies for evaluating children's books. And just as we respect some individual's opinions more than others, so is with reviewers. Our deepest respect goes to the periodical called the "Horn Book Magazine." Published six times a year under the editorship of Ruth Hill Viguers, this magazine publishes articles by outstanding authorities in the field of children's literature and reviews the best of current children's publications. The magazine is interested in excellence of thought and expression in writing for children. A book review in Horn Book testifies to its excellence. For a librarian to find his book selections among those reviewed is a sort of vote of confidence. The titles below were selected from the February Horn Book and are already on our shelves for your selection. The current and back issues of the Horn Book are available in the children's room of the Harrison Memorial Library for borrowing. The book notes are taken from the Horn Book reviews.

PICTURE BOOKS:

CANDIDO by Alberta Eiseaman. The young white llama named Candido has always been Paco's beloved pet, but now three years old, the animal must learn to share in carrying burdens to market. The lively line pictures show colorful costumed Indians and give a fine sense of the Peruvian mountain country.

FOLK TALES:

RABASH by Claudine. A distinctive fairy tale explains how a little blue Persian horse "learns" to be alive and becomes the pride of King Rustam's kingdom after a giant clap of thunder has released him from Prince Kasim's storybook. The value of freedom serves as the theme and deepens the interest of the smoothly told tale. Many pictures, inspired by 14th-century Persian miniatures, complement the story.

THE WHISPER OF GLOCKEN by Carlo Kuppall. Readers of "The Gammage Cup" will remember the Minnips, history-conscious inhabitants of a valley cut off from the "outside." The story, told with many delightful plays on words, is good fantasy and well-paced adventure from start to finish.

STORIES FOR THE MIDDLE YEARS:

THE EMPTY SCHOOLHOUSE by Natalie Savage Carlson. It is not a simple matter, in writing for children, to distill the essence of great contemporary social problems, but a writer of true artistic integrity has made a brave attempt. Fourteen-year-old Emma tells the story of what happened to their Louisiana town when their local school was desegregated. The author enlivens her characters with her usual warmth of spirit and the story is lightened by notes of humor.

STORIES FOR THE OLDER BOYS AND GIRLS:

KOMANTCIA by Harold Keith. Pedro Pavon is abducted by the barbaric Comanche warrior who had killed his mother in a raid on his uncle's Mexican ranch. The vivid description of often-grim Indian life and of the stark yet beautiful desert environment has the ring of reality. The narrative is told with enthusiasm that will engage any mature reader.

BIOGRAPHY:

THE LANTERN BEARER: A LIFE OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON by James Playsted Wood. "Treasure Island" is well-known to young readers, but the life of its author is not. In the frank, factual, sympathetic account of Stevenson's short life is the description of a man often preening himself with vanity and prone to psychosomatic illness.

HISTORY:

AMERICAN FORTS: YESTERDAY AND TODAY, by Bruce Grant. Region by region, then state by state, the forts of all 50 states are listed and described in accounts varying in length from a few sentences to several paragraphs. Area maps cite the location of many. While essentially a reference work, the book will attract those who are interested in military history and engineering.

THEATER AND BALLET:

SEVEN STAGES by Geoffrey Trease. Here is a series of fascinating, colorful vignettes of seven great figures of the theater, which ably project the temper of the times and re-create vivid scenes of theater life. The seven men and women presented in chronological sequence are: Marlowe, Moliere, Verdi, Sarah Siddons, Henry Irving, Jenny Lind and Anna Pavlova.

RECOMMENDED NEW EDITION:

THE POOH STORY BOOK by A. A. Milne. One story from "Winnie the Pooh" and two from "The House at Pooh Corner" are included, making an inviting introduction to the well-loved books. Twenty-one new illustrations in full color by E. H. Shepard have been added to the familiar line drawings. Good reading to you!

British Consul WAC Speaker March 18

The Honorable Peter Dalton, British Consul General in San Francisco, will be the featured speaker at Brey Hall, Carmel High School, on March 18 at 8 p.m., in a lecture sponsored by the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula.

Mr. Dalton held posts in Peking and Hankow prior to World War II and served in the British Foreign Office in Bangkok and Montevideo. He was appointed Counselor of Embassy in Warsaw in 1960, and in August 1964 became Consul General in Los Angeles.

Last week's speaker was Dr. Siegfried Von Nostitz, German Consul General in San Francisco, who spoke on "Germany's Role in European Integration."

OFFICERS' WIVES' INTERNATIONAL NIGHT

The Officers' Wives' Club of the United States Naval Postgraduate School will have an "International Night" on March 17 at 8 p.m. at Herrmann Hall.

Tickets are now on sale in the breezeway outside the Navy Exchange. For further information phone Mrs. John Henry (373-1746).

SONATA RECITAL AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Maria deJong and Louis Fragos will be heard in a sonata recital tomorrow evening at 8:15 at All Saints' parish hall.

The program will include "Sonata in E Minor" by Veracini, "Sonata in G" by Brahms, Mozart's "Sonata No. 7, Kc. 376" and "Sonata in D Minor" by Saint-Saens.

Mrs. Reynolds

Mrs. James Reynolds, a frequent Carmel visitor with many friends in the area, died in a Santa Barbara hospital March 3 after a brief illness.

A resident of Blue Ridge Summit, Pennsylvania, she was the daughter of the late Mary Porlock and Thomas Muse Southgate.

Mrs. Reynolds leaves two nieces, Miss Helen Grandin of Long Island, New York, and Miss Virginia Southgate of Norfolk, Virginia; and a nephew, Dr. F. H. Southgate of Alexandria, Virginia.

Graveside rites for Mrs. Reynolds were held Saturday in Poughkeepsie Cemetery, Poughkeepsie, New York.

Sierra Club Will Hear President Siri At Meeting Tomorrow

The Sierra Club's Ventana chapter will have Dr. William Siri as its featured speaker for the dinner meeting at the Mission Ranch tomorrow.

Dr. Siri, who is president of the Sierra Club, is a physiologist, conservationist and mountaineer and he will review the background of the club and the development of conservation policies through the years.

Members and their guests may write Mrs. Ruth Albee, Box 1912, Carmel for reservations.

Police Apprehended Juvenile Vandals

Carmel police arrested three juveniles last weekend after they admitted they were involved in a vandalistic spree against automobiles on February 6.

Friday, police found a 15-year-old Carmel boy sleeping in an abandoned car and took him into custody for violation of a city ordinance which prohibits sleeping overnight in cars.

After searching him, they found a news clipping which described complaints from the night of February 6 by people whose car tops had been slashed, antennas broken, tail lights smashed and side mirrors ripped off.

Further questioning revealed that the youth had been part of the spree and he implicated two other Carmel boys aged 16 and 17.

All three boys were cited to juvenile authorities and turned over to their parents.

FOR SALE

ONE MUST see the interior of this sparkling new home to really appreciate the warm glow of the golden carpet, the two big bedrooms with spacious closets and beautifully appointed baths, the dining room large enough to accommodate formal furniture and the dreamiest of all dream kitchens... One wonders how the Owner-Builder could construct and offer this choice home on a level lot for only $38,500.

OR, if "South of Ocean" has special meaning for you choose this four-year old home with two big bedrooms, each with its own bath, random-width oak floors, ultra modern kitchen, and French doors opening from three of the rooms onto a sunny, secluded patio. What more could one expect for $36,500? Yes, there is one more thing and that is the wonderful big loan already on the property which may be assumed by a qualified Buyer if his money is worth more to him than the reasonable interest rate of this long-term loan.

ABOUT BUYING THAT NEW HOME

If your goal in 1966 is a new home, there are 2 ways to go about it:

ONE—

You can read all the ads, mark ones which interest you, call all the offices. You'll see lots and lots of homes this way with lots and lots of salesmen. You may also get thoroughly confused, but if this is your way of doing it, good luck!

THE BETTER WAY—

is to select an office which has been advertising the kind of home you are seeking and make your requirements known to an experienced, competent realtor in that office. In our office, for instance, we feel privileged to know your desire as well as your needs, and we consider it a privilege to help you shop for your dreams as well as your basic requirements.

We have many homes to choose from, and are members of the Multiple Listing Service with knowledge of most homes for sale in this area. And if your want just isn't on the market, we'll get busy and try to find it for you. Do stop in soon. We're INTERESTED in your problems at

Ballot Arguments Pro, Con CUSD Override Tax

Last week, this paper presented detailed accounts showing how the Carmel Unified School District intends to use the additional funds which will become available if the proposed 70-cent tax override is approved on March 29. It also published a summary indicating which items of the school program the board of education will consider deleting from the 1966-67 budget if the tax increase is defeated at the polls.

In response to readers' requests, some of whom state they have not received the supplementary material on the issue with their notification of polling place from the County Clerk's office, the arguments for and against the override tax, as they appear on the ballot, follow.

ARGUMENT FOR

With your vote on the 70-cent override tax you decide whether to reduce the existing standard of education or to maintain and slightly improve that standard. Those who believe in a strong America will want to improve the education of their children even if it means increased taxes.

Thirty-five cents of the override tax is required to maintain our present position because of inflation and student population growth. The remaining 35 cents will begin to take care of present deficiencies in books, competitive teacher salaries, additional teachers, science materials, educational aids, and above all, in the reduction of classroom size.

You should know that our school tax rate is the lowest on the Monterey Peninsula and in comparable municipalities: Pacific Grove $2.84, Monterey $2.65, Salinas $2.33, Gilroy $3.32, Palo Alto $4.35 and in your own Carmel Unified School District $2.15.

We had the same number of teachers this fall (139) as we had in the fall of 1963 and we have one less administrator, even though the pupil population is growing.

This override tax will increase the average homeowner's tax by $3.75 per month (based on an average assessed valuation of $6,500 per household)—12½ cents a day for a program that will keep pace with our society, the rest of the nation, and hopefully the world.

Carmel Citizens for Better Schools

ARGUMENT AGAINST

The Tax Committee in the Carmel Unified School District recommends a "NO" vote on the proposed 70-cent override tax, March 29, 1966.

The Carmel Unified School District now levies a tax of $2.53 per $100 assessed valuation, including a fifty-cent override tax which has two more years to be levied. The proposed 70-cent tax would raise this rate to $3.23 per $100 per assessed valuation.

This proposed new tax would be a severe burden on all, but especially on the many property owners who are on a fixed, limited income and who cannot adjust their income to meet the rapidly rising tax load.

The current annual cost of educating over 2800 students in the Carmel Unified School District is $681.92 per student per year. This is now the highest cost per student in the school districts on the Monterey Peninsula.

Sound fiscal policy should keep increased costs of education in line with increased assessed valuations. Assessed valuations are high in the Carmel Unified School District, causing a deceptively low school tax rate.

It is believed that the increase in student attendance in the Carmel Unified School District has not indicated a need for increased taxes for educational purposes.

(The above argument was submitted by J. H. Phillips, Chairman, Tax Committee C.U.S.D.)

Mosaic Demonstration At CHS Tomorrow

"Mosaics as an Art Form" will be the subject of the first in the Crafts in Demonstration Lecture series presented by the Carmel Adult School tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall, Carmel High School. Harry Powers of the San Jose State College art department will cover wax and sand casting, design approaches and mosaic techniques with particular emphasis on use of newly developed adhesives.

Mr. Power's special interest is the design and execution of works which integrate with architecture. He has executed a number of commissions in San Francisco Bay area building, which includes commercial, residential, ecclesiastical, governmental, and professional designs. His works are primarily mosaic and stained glass. He is currently designing stained glass windows for San Jose State College Chapel.

This demonstration lecture is presented free to the public.

Bair Presents Incentive Plans To School Board

(Continued from Page One) people. At present, he said, teachers who reach the maximum salary for classroom instruction have no way to increase their income further except to move into supervision or administration. By providing extra compensation under the voluntary leadership program he would hope to keep these outstanding teachers in the teaching field.

Marvin Patterson, president of the Association of Carmel Teachers, approved the three plans generally but said the teachers would prefer to have leadership awards come from the administration rather than be initiated by the teacher. Bair pointed out that many types of programs, such as graduate fellowships, must be applied for.

Patterson also summarized a study made by his group on a new salary guide. Using a total figure of roughly $117,000 which had been tentatively advanced in a previous meeting as the amount that might be available for teachers' salaries if the override passed, he offered a salary guide that ran from $5700 as a starting salary (Class I, Step 1) to $11,400 maximum (Class V, Step 13). He also requested continuation of the career honorarium now in force and a medical insurance policy to be paid by the district at a cost of around $10 per month per employee, adding about $18,000 to the budget.

It was discovered in the meantime by the board and the administration, however, that the amount available for salary increases would have to be revised sharply downward to allow for the hiring of additional teachers and to leave money in reserve for the annual step increments required by law.

Harold Lippstreu, co-chairman of the A.C.T. salary committee, suggested that the amount now mentioned for salary increases (around $66,000) would not permit a guide that would attract outstanding new teachers if the insurance cost were subtracted from it. He would prefer, he said, to poll his entire membership to decide whether, from any available amount, they would choose to have $18,000 used for tax-free insurance benefits or disbursed in salary. This is to be done before

ACT representatives agreed to the March 23 board meeting. approve the use of ACT Index I in constructing a salary guide, no matter what starting salary is chosen. This index accelerates the date of increase between the fifth and eighth year of teaching when the probationary period is over and family responsibilities are likely to be heavy. It also provides a maximum salary that is double the minimum.

Other items of business carried out by the board included renewal for six months of permission to use River School facilities for the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula. Three half-time teachers were elected under Title I, ESEA Funds, one for Tularecito School and two for River. They are Mrs. Viola Kirksey, Mrs. Virginia Lacy, and Mrs. Charlotte Miller.

Enrollment in the district as of February 25 was reported at 2819 students.

The board will hold a study session on curriculum next Wednesday evening, March 16, its regular meeting the following week on March 23, and a special meeting on March 30, the day after the election.

Humble Opposition Is Fortified By Formation Of County-Wide Group

Medium range: To work toward elimination of existing pollution in Monterey County or encourage more stringent controls and to stimulate enforcement of current regulations.

Long range: First, to work locally in an educational program to alert the general public to the inherent health and economic hazards of mass pollution and encourage research efforts on the effect of smog on human health and agriculture and its economic impact. Second, to work with the county planning commission and board of supervisors to establish appropriate zoning ordinances and guidelines for clean, compatible industry in Monterey County. Third, to assist and counsel adjacent counties and other communities across the nation in preventing the rising tide of mass pollution.

The tentative name of the new group is the Anti-Pollution Association of Monterey County.
